

Student Mental Health Policy

Introduction

1. The University of Bolton is committed to taking positive steps to eliminate discrimination in its policies, practices and procedures by creating an inclusive environment for all students, promoting mental wellbeing and to support students who experience mental health difficulties. These difficulties may be a long term mental illness, an emerging mental health problem which are impacting on a student's ability to study.
2. The University of Bolton aims to create an environment where students feel at ease to disclose past or current mental health difficulties. The University respects people's rights to privacy and will treat all information concerning an individual's mental health with appropriate confidentiality, in accordance with the Data Protection Act (1998) and the Disability Service's Confidentiality Policy.
3. Widening participation, increasing student numbers and disability legislation have all led to a notable increase in the numbers of students with mental health entering higher education.
4. The purpose of this policy is to set out a framework for working with students experiencing mental health difficulties.

Context and Legal Framework

5. In 2011 the Royal College of Psychiatrists published a report on the mental health of students in higher education.¹ This report made clear that students were a disadvantaged population when it came to access to mental health services in the community.
6. The Disability Discrimination Act(s) (DDA) 1995 and 2005, and the Special Educational Needs Disability Act (SENDA) 2001 as amended by the Equality Act 2010 places a duty to make "reasonable adjustments" for the individual with a "mental impairment" and to ensure that reasonable steps are taken to ensure that the student is not placed at a substantial disadvantage in comparison to other students.
7. The DDA 2005 placed a duty on the University to publish a Disability Equality Scheme (DES). Among its actions, the DES made staff disability awareness training mandatory, as well as improve facilities and services for disabled students and staff. This duty has been amended

by the Equality Act 2010 and the University has incorporated these actions into the University's Single Equality Scheme equality objectives. Currently all new staff are required to participate in mandatory Disability awareness sessions, plus encouraged to attend any supplementary bespoke disability sessions

8. This policy has been reviewed in response to and in accordance with the Equality Act 2010 and the Student mental wellbeing in Higher Education (2015)².
9. This policy is based on students studying at the Deane Road & Queens campus and provision should be mirrored by partners / off campus

Terminology

10. Under the Equality Act, a disability is defined as a physical or mental impairment which has a "substantial and long-term adverse effect on a person's ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities". "Substantial" means more than minor or trivial. "Impairment" covers long term medical conditions and fluctuating or progressive conditions. What is classed as a mental impairment can include a whole myriad of medical labels however it is important to remember all people are individuals and even those with the same medical label are unlikely to experience exactly the same effects. It is therefore vital that staff consider a more holistic approach rather than a medical model. However unfortunately many students need to have a medical diagnosis under the act to access some services and funding for example government funded Disabled Students Allowance (DSA).

Roles and responsibilities of staff

11. All staff should ensure policies and procedures, from strategic planning to operational practices facilitate integration and embedding of mental wellbeing across the institution.
12. Staff should be ready to offer support to students within the professional limitation of their role but are not expected to assume responsibility outside the parameters of their professional role for resolving a student's mental health difficulties. Staff will be well informed about appropriate University services and procedures for students experiencing mental health difficulties i.e. Disclosure Form (Appendix 1), basic guidance on identifying warning signs to look out for in order to signpost the student to the most appropriate service (Appendix 2) and support networks inside and outside the University (Appendix 3).
13. Staff must be sensitive of the language they use. Negative stereotypical language promotes a climate in which people with mental health difficulties are stigmatised and do not feel comfortable to disclose these difficulties or seek the advice and help they need.

Roles and responsibility of students

14. Students need to take responsibility for communicating their needs and accessing services and support within the University to enable the University to offer support.
15. Students are encouraged to take care of their own mental health, for example ensuring that they get adequate rest, take prescribed medication and access appropriate support.
16. Students should be aware that any behaviour which impacts negatively on fellow students or staff, or is in any way disruptive or offensive, is not acceptable within the University community and may ultimately be subject to University Disciplinary Procedure after all reasonable adjustments are considered. If University staff that come into contact with a student believe that the student's mental health difficulties may have been a contributory factor in their behaviour, or if the student themselves or their peers disclose this information, careful consideration should be given to the way in which the incident or behaviour is treated and whether any reasonable adjustments can be considered due to these difficulties. The supported study policy should also be considered.
17. Students concerned about a fellow student's mental well-being should be aware of their personal limitations and should encourage their fellow student to seek specialist support at the earliest opportunity and if this is difficult they themselves should seek advice in confidence from any of the services listed in Appendix 3. However if the student considers themselves or the fellow student to be in imminent danger or is likely to cause harm to themselves or others they should contact the emergency services on 999 or 666 from an internal university phone.

Policy Statement

18. The aims of this policy are to provide:
 - A clear, transparent and practical policy framework relating to mental health issues for students, potential students and staff supporting these students at the University of Bolton
 - A basis for a consistent approach throughout the University to the way we respond to the needs of students experiencing mental health difficulties.
19. This policy applies to all current and prospective students.

Admissions and Entry

20. The University welcomes enquiries and applications from prospective students who have a history of mental health difficulties. All applicants will be assessed on their academic merits and the University will consider implementing any reasonable adjustments to prevent discrimination on the grounds of mental wellbeing.
21. At application, prospective students living with mental health difficulties are encouraged to disclose this information. Admissions staff will inform the Disability Service and the Disability Service will contact the student to discuss the student's support requirements and inform them of the support and services available.
22. Students should be given specific advice about the support available to them, including advice about the Disabled Student's Allowance (DSA), if appropriate. Any information disclosed will be kept confidential and only disseminated with the student's written consent in line with the Data Protection Act 1998 and the Disability Service's Confidentiality agreement. With consent, a notification will be sent to the student's School and other relevant staff alerting them to the student's particular support requirements. It will be explained to students who do not consent to information being disclosed, as outlined above, that this could limit the support measures that the University can put in place.
23. Mental Health problems should not be a barrier to full participation in student life. All necessary adjustments, where reasonable, will be made to enable students living with mental health difficulties to access all aspects of their course and to ensure that they are not at a disadvantage compared to other students.

During the course of study

24. If a student experiences mental health difficulties during their time at University, advice and support are available from the Disability Service, Chaplaincy or Counselling Service. Other support networks information is provided in Appendix 3.
25. Student Liaison Officers located within Schools provide pastoral care, practical advice and guidance for all students who experience barriers to study.
26. Students can use the Multi Faith Chaplaincy for a wide range of welfare issues, the majority of which are not related at all to faith or belief.
27. The University has a Counselling Service staffed by a professional counsellor. This service offers free and confidential counselling to all students. Students are encouraged to self-refer.
28. The Disability Service provides staff with advice and guidelines on supporting students with mental health difficulties. It will liaise with students' Schools as appropriate (depending on the level of the students consent) to ensure that an individual student has all the support necessary to participate fully in the student experience and fulfil their potential.

Mental Health Wellbeing intervention plan

29. To ensure students Mental Health wellbeing is maintained to a level that they can study successfully to the best of their ability, it is recommended that students are encouraged to complete an intervention plan, with their disability adviser, in order that if they exhibit / declare signs of a relapse, in line with this plan, staff can contact the student's nominated persons at an earlier stage than they may otherwise have done, enabling the student to potentially seek the support they need at an earlier stage than they may otherwise do, leading to a more successful outcome for the student.

Examination Arrangements

30. The University will put in place appropriate individual exam arrangements for students who provide acceptable medical evidence that they have a mental health difficulty, to ensure that such students are not placed at a disadvantage to fellow students when undertaking examinations. Please refer to the Procedure for Individual Exam Arrangements which is downloadable from <http://www.bolton.ac.uk/Students/PoliciesProceduresRegulations/AllStudents/Taught-Programmes.aspx>

Mitigating Circumstances

31. If a student is unable to complete a piece of work or feels that their performance in a piece of work or an examination has been adversely affected by a fluctuating or deterioration in their disability they are entitled to submit an application concerning mitigating circumstances. This will be considered by the student's appropriate examination board. Further details on the Mitigating Circumstances Procedure is available from Student Liaison Officers or Student Advisors on studentadvisors@bolton.ac.uk or x3733, or please refer to the Procedure for Mitigating Circumstances, which is downloadable from <http://www.bolton.ac.uk/Students/PoliciesProceduresRegulations/Mitigating-Circumstances-Regulations-and-Procedures.aspx>

Fitness to Practice

32. A student's performance could be compromised by mental health difficulties, thus impacting upon fitness to practice. Where a student is studying on a programme of study which leads to a vocational qualification and which is subject to a fitness to practice or termination of training procedure, any serious mental health concerns should be referred to the appropriate person in the School of Study.

Interruption of Studies

33. The University will respond flexibly to any request to suspend studies on the grounds of mental ill health and it is usually possible for a student to suspend his or her course of study to enable a period of rest and recovery. An appropriate period of recovery can be negotiated, after which the University might require medical evidence to confirm that the student is fit and able to cope with the academic demands that will be placed upon them.
34. If a student feels that a suspension of study may help them they should discuss this option with an appropriate member of staff, such as their Personal Tutor, Programme Leader, Student Liaison Officers, Student Advisers or the Students Union, however although many of these staff can offer advice to students about the process only academic members of staff can sanction this action.
35. If a student's performance is being adversely affected by a mental health difficulty, the tutor may encourage the student to consider requesting some time out to recover. A student will not be disadvantaged on the resumption of his/her studies by reason of agreed suspension due to mental health difficulties. However it must be considered that a student's options for their academic path may be limited by factors that the University could not have reasonably known at the time, such as a particular course or programme of study ceasing to exist in the meantime.
36. It is important that before making the decision to suspend the student seeks advice about the financial implications of so doing from Student Services.
37. There may be instances in which a student's mental health causes them to behave in a disruptive manner. If University staff that come into contact with a student believe that the student's mental health difficulties may have been a contributory factor in their behaviour, or if the student themselves or their peers disclose this information, careful consideration should be given to the way in which the incident or behaviour is treated and whether any reasonable adjustments can be considered due to these difficulties. The supported study policy should also be considered.

Equality Impact Assessment

38. The University of Bolton is committed to the promotion of equality, diversity and a supportive environment for all members of our community. Our commitment to equality and diversity means that this policy has been screened in relation to the use of plain English, the promotion of the duty in relation to the protected characteristics of race, sex, disability, age, sexual orientation, religion or belief, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity.

39. All University policies are subject to periodic review under the equality impact assessment process.

Monitoring and Review

40. This policy will be monitored annually to judge its effectiveness and updated in accordance with changes in the law by the Equality and Diversity Committee.

Guidelines on Student Mental Health and Wellbeing

The purpose of these guidelines is to provide basic guidance on identifying warning signs, symptoms and behaviour, with a view to informing or advising students on possible sources of appropriate support across the University.

It is a guide to help staff to understand some common mental health difficulties. Staff are not expected to become diagnosticians, as this is a specialist task. However it is hoped that these notes will assist in making decisions about referring a student for further support.

Knowing that a student carries this or that particular mental illness label is usually unhelpful, and conveys little or nothing about the person's difficulties or experiences. Information about the typical symptoms of illnesses is readily available from a range of sources including the NHS <http://www.nhs.uk/Conditions/Pages/hub.aspx> . This section avoids a condition-by-condition approach, and concentrates instead on behaviours which staff may encounter, and the responses which are likely to be helpful.

It is important to remember no two people experience mental health difficulties in exactly the same way. Mental health difficulties are likely to be temporary and are often treated effectively by counsellors, psychologists and/or medication. They may be caused by the need to cope with sudden change, e.g. bereavement, or the breakup of a relationship. They can be the result of chronic stress or can also stem from emotional difficulties which people have experienced in their childhood, adolescence or as adults.

Staff in a pastoral role such as Personal Tutors, counsellors, chaplains, postgraduate supervisors and University owned accommodation services staff can have an important role in the early detection of these disabling but eminently treatable conditions. People who are experiencing symptoms may not recognise what is happening and only seek help when prompted by friends, flatmates, family or university staff.

A change in behaviour can be associated with some medical conditions. Behaviour which is out of character for an individual may be associated with being run down, very tired and overexcited or under stress. Alternatively it may result from the use of drugs (legal and illegal), new or a change in medication etc. Mental illness is different. Mental illness can have a deeply incapacitating effect, and may require hospital admission. Its diagnosis is unlikely to depend on isolated symptoms and is usually associated with the observation of a persistent cluster of symptoms over a period of time. By contrast with mental health difficulties, which affect approximately one in four of the general population, mental illness is experienced by approximately one in fifty.

Feeling worried is a healthy response in many situations, and an important aspect of successful achievement. We all develop ways of coping with our anxieties when we feel under pressure. However, between 7 – 10% of the population is likely to be worried about many aspects of living and when anxiety becomes too great and significantly impairs the ability to function; we need to encourage students to seek help. Sessions with a counsellor or psychologist can be helpful ways of exploring the causes of stress and implementing ways forward.

In rare cases of severe anxiety and panic attacks, or severe mental illness, a GP referral, medication and the use of psychological or cognitive therapies may be beneficial.

Depression is one of the most common forms of mental health distress. We all go through difficult times in our lives, but for people who are depressed life can be a real struggle. They may feel bad about their lives and themselves in many ways. At times they may feel despairing. Counselling can provide a powerful way of safely exploring how the depression began and of assisting the student to mobilise those centres of resilience jargon that still remain, GP referral is recommended and the careful use of anti-depressant medication can prove helpful.

If you are aware of a student experiencing some of the symptoms listed below it may be appropriate to make them aware of resources which are available to them. For students who experience a cluster of symptoms over a period of time, it is important that they are encouraged to seek professional help.

Recognising warning signs, symptoms and behaviours

It should be reiterated that there is no expectation that University staff will become diagnosticians, and the following list of symptoms is in no way intended to be a diagnostic tool. There are also many reasons why students may be experiencing some of these symptoms and therefore it doesn't mean a student definitely is experiencing Mental Health issues if they have some of these signs and symptoms. It is, however, guidance to staff in advising or informing a student about possible sources of help.

Examples of a range of signs and symptoms:

Behaviour

- Change in study patterns e.g. doing considerably more or less work than usual
- Change in attendance patterns at university
- Falling grades
- Agitation
- Over-intense interaction/withdrawal
- Uninhibited/disruptive/disturbing behaviour
- Disrupted eating pattern
- Disrupted sleeping pattern
- Reduced concentration
- Changes in motivation
- Self harm
- Suicidal thoughts and activity
- Avoidance of everyday activity

Appearance

- Lack of attention to appearance and poor personal hygiene
- Marked weight loss or increase
- Particularly drawn/tired looking
- Noticeable smell of alcohol, cannabis
- Bizarre, unusual and out of character dress

Mood

- Loss of interest in most things/exaggerated interest
- Significant mood swings
- Excitable/restless/fidgety
- Extremely angry
- Extremely sad
- Feeling flat
- Isolated and withdrawn
- Feeling of disorientation
- Altered states of perception
- Persecutory ideas
- Feelings of acute loneliness

Other indicators

- Something what the student is saying or doing makes you feel very concerned or uneasy
- History of mental health difficulties
- Recent disruptive/traumatic events
- Significant loss in their lives (past/present)
- Debt/financial worries
- Lack of other supports/isolated
- Significant academic pressure
- Difficulties in the home environment (family/flatmates)

Sources of support for staff in assisting students with mental health difficulties:

People seek counselling with a range of concerns varying from short term personal, social, family or academic worries to longer term more complex psychological problems. Some may attend only once or twice, others may use counselling for regular meetings over a period of several months.

The Counselling Service offers a confidential, professional service to students. Students can make an appointment to see the University Counsellors by calling into Student Services or by ringing ext. 3733.

The Student Liaison Officers are available to provide confidential advice and support, offer opportunities to develop student study skills and coordinate a Peer Mentoring scheme.
